

Tongva Program Pre-Visit Activity

INTRODUCTION - The Autry Museum of the American West is located on Tongva lands called Tovangaar. The Tongva, also known as the Gabrieliño, are the first peoples of Los Angeles. For thousands of years, the Tongva have been living in different environments in the Los Angeles area. Environments are the surroundings or conditions in which people, plants, and animals live. In this lesson, you will explore three of the environments that have been important to the Tongva's culture for a long time.

PART 1 - Look closely at this photograph of an environment.

What do you see in this photograph of an environment? Describe what you see in the space below or on a separate document.

PART 4 - You will learn even more about the coastal environment, grassland environment, and woodland environment during the Tongva: The First Peoples of Los Angeles program. Before you participate in the program, think about what the environment you live in looks like.

Draw a picture of your indoor environment, outdoor environment, or both environments in the space below or on a separate document. Your indoor environment can include the inside of your home. Your outdoor environment can include the area outside of your home. Please save your picture so that you can add even more to it after you participate in the program.
